Bill Descriptions for the Votes that Affect You

1. Funding Government Schools

HB371 increases capital outlay funding for public schools to $375 million annually.

Education is not the role of government—it is the responsibility of a child's parents or family. Schools can and should be privatized, without any need for public funding. If not dismantled, the government's monopoly on preK-12 education will continue to displace traditional private schools and homeschooling in favor of universal state-sponsored schooling. The best "school choice" is for parents to choose not to place their child's education in the hands of the state. Educational and economic freedom cannot be achieved by forcing other citizens to give up their hard-earned tax dollars for a compulsory, failing, and government-run school system.

2. Georgia Religious Freedom Restoration Act

SB36 restricts state and local authorities' ability to "substantially burden a person's exercise of religion."

This bill supports the religious liberty of Christians and other people of faith who are under political attack from radical, left-wing secular humanists. The Georgia Constitution protects religious freedom. Its Bill of Rights declares that every person has the "natural and inalienable right to worship God" and that "no human authority should ... interfere with such right of conscience." This aligns with the U.S. Constitution's First Amendment, which says, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." States reserve the power to promote religious liberty consistent with the "peace and safety" of their citizens.

3. Right to In Vitro Fertilization

HB428 codifies a right for individuals to obtain in vitro fertilization (IVF).

IVF and other assisted reproductive technologies involve life-destroying practices through which the vast majority of embryos conceived outside the womb are aborted or indefinitely frozen, resulting in the killing or cryo-incarceration of millions of preborn children. No person has a right to take the "life or limb" of a child. Georgia ought to forbid all methods of abortion and cryo-orphaning entirely. The right to life is the most fundamental, God-given, and "unalienable" right asserted in the Declaration of Independence and guaranteed by the Fifth and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

4. AI "Election Interference" Bill

SB9 would make it a crime of "fraudulent election interference" for political campaigns to knowingly publish "materially deceptive" media within 90 days of an election.

Similar to other laws passed to combat "deepfakes" and other deceptive content, this bill raises serious concerns about silencing political dissent. While its criminal penalties seem to apply only to persons "affiliated" with political campaigns, and exceptions do exist for "satire" and "parody," significant parts of the bill's text are vague. The question of who decides, and by what standard, whether something is "materially deceptive" is extremely troubling. It may even be an indirect form of voter intimidation or "election interference" itself, especially considering the risk of potential felony charges. The Georgia Constitution plainly says that, "No law shall be passed to curtail or restrain the freedom of speech." This bill does not make it clear at all if someone actually would or should be "responsible for abuse of that liberty."

5. Eliminating "School Zone" Ticket Cameras

HB225 would prohibit the use of "automatic traffic enforcement safety devices" to enforce speeding violations in "school zones."

This bill would effectively ban "school zone" ticket cameras, one of the baneful and coercive type of "policing-for-profit" schemes employed by local governments. Georgia law already allows local police to enforce traffic laws and issue moving violations. The use of these "school zone" ticket cameras from third-party (and potentially foreign-owned) companies is nothing other than a corrupt, techno-authoritarian method to unconstitutionally tax citizens. It infringes upon the Bill of Rights and the 14th Amendment, specifically the accused's right to privacy and due process.

6. Medicaid Coverage for "Tobacco Cessation"

HB506 provides Medicaid coverage for "tobacco cessation treatments."

Not only are anti-tobacco "public health" initiatives outside the limited purpose and scope of government, but Medicaid is unauthorized according to Article 1, Section 8, of the U.S. Constitution. This bill entrenches Georgia in the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's ever-expanding unconstitutional war on tobacco, which seeks to deny basic personal freedoms (e.g., the right to purchase or sell tobacco) and eradicate an entire industry, while relying on immoral and discriminatory forms of taxation (e.g., income taxes) that unjustly provide "medical assistance" benefits to "eligible" persons, who have little or no tax liability, at the expense of others. The Constitution's Bill of Rights and 14th Amendment were written to prevent "nanny state" big-government policies and the reckless use of taxpayer money.
